

The diagram illustrates a web page layout with the following components:

- Header: A large rectangular area at the top of the page.
- Main Content Area:
 - Left Column: A large rectangular block occupying the left side of the main content area.
 - Right Column: A series of smaller rectangular blocks stacked vertically on the right side of the main content area.
- Footer: A large rectangular area at the bottom of the page, containing several smaller rectangular blocks.